 Jumpering pins 12 and 13 tests the rotary switch function without the need to add an LED and external voltage source. It also simulates the need to have the switch in the 5KV position to enable the CCD controller to read the current monitor.